585-440 Sheraton-inspired Console 54W 16D 26H. 585-450 Sheraton-inspired Deck. Drop-leaf door enclosing desk compartments 50W 11¼D 41½H.

Designed by Henry and David Warren

For living areas: new comfort and elegance!

Triune . . . from the great masters of the 18th and 19th centuries: Sheraton, Hepplewhite, the Adam Brothers; the Directoire, French and American Empire periods—and made more livable with 20th century function. These handsome pieces of Triune by Drexel are never repetitious.

This lightly scaled and delightfully proportioned collection is of sable mahogany, with rich antiquing, overlays of walnut burl, and mottled stripe veneers. Rose-beige Portuguese marble individualizes many of the pieces. Deep, recessed octagonal paneling is a continuing theme throughout. The jewel-colors of the fabrics were custom-designed for this grouping. You'll find this magnificent collection will bring to your home a new depth and meaning to gracious living.

There are so many fine pieces to select from . . .
you'll want to add more rooms to your home!

For gracious dining: simplicity with elegance!

During the 18th and 19th centuries, the grande dining salons of the past began to disappear. Simpler, more intimate dining areas, like in our homes of today, became evident. Thus the need arose for more and more cupboard and shelf space! It was Sheraton who began to design elegant "functional" furniture . . . inspired by the Adam Brothers' concern for architectural "built-ins" which would not disturb the beauty of the interior.

Our needs today are much the same. Triune by Drexel brings to your dining area, elegance and simplicity. Pieces, with handsome exteriors, will become an integral part of your interior design, with storage space for everything! And once again chairs are easy to sit in, tables in sizes and styles to fit your way of living. Triune has atmosphere and mood—perfect for dining.

The Triune collection for dining areas is designed for intimate suppers or family homecomings. It's up to you to decide which!
